

I believe that I can contribute to the success of the youth delegation to the World Democracy Forum in several ways, including:

Active participation: I will be active in discussions and workshops, and share my opinions and ideas based on my personal experiences and studies I have conducted on issues of democracy and human rights.

Spreading awareness: After returning from the forum, I will share the knowledge and experiences I have gained with my local network of young people, through workshops, lectures and writing articles, helping to spread awareness and enhance understanding of democratic issues.

Through these efforts, I can contribute to enhancing the success of the youth delegation and ensuring that our participation has a positive and sustainable impact on democracy in our communities .and globally
