

Lupus is a sickness where your body's defense system attacks its own tissues and organs, known as an autoimmune disease. Inflammation from lupus can affect many parts of your body, including your joints, skin, kidneys, blood cells, brain, heart, and lungs. It can be hard to spot lupus because its symptoms are similar to other sicknesses.