

As computer technology has improved, today's online environments have become more complex and. 1
.realistic. One website that has attracted over six million Internet users is Second Life