

The Fusion 360 program is successfully used both as a medium for developing a training project and for
.launching large industrial production