

Coca-Cola vs. Pepsi The rivalry between Coca-Cola and Pepsi is one of the most famous examples of competition-based pricing. Both companies constantly monitor each other's pricing and promotional strategies and adjust their prices accordingly to stay competitive.