

Phytochemical screening with color reaction method was conducted to determine the group of secondary metabolites in the sample