

This study evaluates the effectiveness of safety programs in promoting a safe work environment and reducing the risks of working at height. You will also use standard operating procedures (SOPs), survey questionnaires, and monitoring audits to evaluate the effectiveness of safety programs. Variables will include risk monitoring efforts, control procedures, and application of a risk control process for working at height.