We have mentioned repeatedly that the Carnot cycle is the most efficient cycle operating between two specified temperature limits.If we could, we would certainly adopt it as the ideal cycle.