

The marginalization of women in local communities limits their potential contribution to cultural and .economic development