

I stay organized by planning my tasks carefully and setting clear priorities. At the start of each day or week, I make a to-do list and allocate time for each task according to urgency and importance. Consistent organization allows me to manage time effectively and produce quality results.