

Communication is the process of exchanging ideas, and feelings through various verbal and non-verbal media In the past, communication was direct that is, you must meet the person yourself in order to see him and talk to him, communication have become easier and faster thanks to voice and video .communication technology as well