

Focused on tracking information on products to capture movement, demand variations, and characteristics of items on the warehouse floor