

process is disclosed for preparing diosmin wherein hesperidin is first acetylated using acetic anhydride, to protect the hydroxyl groups. The final dehydrobromination and deacetylation steps are performed in a hydroalcoholic alkaline solution, namely by treatment with a mixture of methanol and aqueous sodium hydroxide.