

You can be extremely excited and convincing in talking to other people, but if you safe place (for boats) doubts inside yourself, it will be harder to reach your dreams. You are researching, studying, reading or surfing the Internet right now when you come across what looks like a promising medical treatment or (way of living) idea, but when you run out to buy it, it is not on the shelves, has gone bad or is more expensive than you expected. The elements of the Yin–Earth are seen as softness, the want to meet other people's expectations. You can become a victim of other people's (moving around/misleading and dishonest behaviors), do not respond to encouragements (to fight). Loss or theft may happen if you are careless with your belongings. To be successful, you must believe in your own talents and abilities as much as you pretend to in front of others. You may be just at the edge of creation, but maybe there's a little nudge that's needed from someone in power. Your (success plan(s)/way(s) of reaching goals) for the near future should be exactly (checked for truth/proved true), otherwise it will be very hard to expect success. Networking is extremely important right now
