

On 3 May, the French 2nd Division refused to follow orders to attack, and the mutiny soon spread throughout the army. Individual incidents of insubordination occurred in the 17th Division