

Salicylates relieve the pain that results from inflammation and tissue damage because they have analgesic, anti-inflammatory, and antipyretic qualities. The majority of NSAIDs' beneficial effects are due to their inhibition of cyclooxygenase (COX) and neutrophils.