

Stacy Davison is one of the three million tourists who chose to visit Costa Rica this year. "Getting there took four hours by bus along an unpaved road. Bu it was so beautiful that it was worth it. We hiked the trails and took a tour through the rain forest canopy. Our guide showed us how to poke a stick into a termite nest to get a snack (They have a nutty flavor!), and how to use live leaf-cutter ants to create "stitches for a cut. It was quite an amazing experience
