

The empirical, field-based literature has produced insights about intercultural interactions and cultural philosophies of communication around the globe