

In baseball, you have two teams taking turns to bat and field. The team batting tries to hit a ball thrown by the pitcher and run around bases to score runs. The team fielding tries to get the batters out by catching the ball or tagging them.