

Monocots, belonging to the Angiosperms, are flowering plants characterized by seeds with a single .cotyledon (embryonic leaf) and leaves usually exhibiting parallel venation