

Dear Editor, I am writing this letter to ask for support in protecting an endangered and unusual animal, the mole rat. Moreover, a research says that the mole rat feels the earthquake before it happens. Therefore, scientists can use this information to save human's life from earthquakes. It might be extinct in 15 years. As a result, scientists want to know how this animal's cells work. In this way, it might help us in curing this disease. Thank you for your attentions. Noora
