

External shocks: this is mostly used to describe economic crisis such as recession and financial crises.??????Conflict situations such as war-torn countries: For example, small businesses in the travel and leisure sector are highly exposed to terrorist threats and actions which can destroy their business premises and/or cause customers to avoid leisure attractions. Such as: civil disorder