

Rationale This course addresses the fundamental aspects of nursing sciences by giving the student nurses the basic standards of nursing procedures . General objective This course provides the student with basic knowledge and skills that enhances his performance when providing direct basic nursing care . to patients in a healthy environment