

Frenhofer was the best artist in the world, loved by everyone for his high quality paintings and use of the best materials. After years of hard work, Frenhofer finished his painting and invited other artists to see his work and get their opinions. He was making a lot of money and living a comfortable life