

There is a difference between the City of Silk and other modern cities. Its design is not limited to establishing living spaces, but rather an architectural space as well. For example, the City of Silk will combine residential, financial and commercial districts