Figures of speech are not restricted to written texts: people use them all the time in everyday conversation. Now let's look at the first two figures of speech we'll focus on, simile and metaphor.