

On April 22, a panel discussion was held at the AUK theater, focusing on energy and environmental sustainability in Kuwait. The panelists then discussed their projects and research, including data collection and tracking weather in Kuwait through images, satellites, and monitoring devices. The panelists included Professor Ahmad Al-Sabre, Dr. Dhary Al-Kandary, Dr. Yehya Al-Hadban, and Dr. Marwan, who has been working in sustainable development of the environment in Kuwait since 2015. Overall, the panel discussion was a great educational experience, providing valuable insights into the country's environmental challenges and the importance of data collection in addressing these issues.
