

A man of Middle Eastern descent, mid-30s to 40s, is centrally positioned in the image. He is wearing a rich, maroon-colored robe adorned with gold embroidery, evoking traditional Middle Eastern attire. Soft, warm-colored string lights and other lanterns are visible in the background, creating a festive and welcoming atmosphere. The lighting emphasizes the man and the lantern, while softly illuminating the background structures. The street is lined with warm-toned buildings and more lit lanterns, casting a warm glow over the scene. The robe has intricate gold details, creating a pattern of ornamental designs. The lantern has intricate patterns and details