

A projectile electron that completely avoids the orbital electron as it passes through a target atom may pass close enough to the nucleus of the atom • The projectile electron is stopped or Decelerated and convert some of its kinetic energy to EM energy (x-ray) Because of the electrostatic force between the electron and the nucleus