

.In conclusion, translation and social media are intertwined in today's interconnected world