

Relevant range is the range within which fixed costs remain constant and variable costs change directly
.in proportion to the level of activity