

Advertising uses publicity to sell companies' and investors' products. It's defined as the art of making
.people desire goods and services