

I feel most connected to young adult plays. This authenticity allows audiences to connect with the characters' journeys, making the experiences feel genuine and impactful.