

.The most frequent response is that a great teacher develops relationships with students