

Body Paragraph 1: Argue that public health is the government's responsibility, detailing how governments have the capacity to implement policies, create initiatives for well-being, and establish healthcare systems and regulations. Conclusion: Summarize both points of view and affirm your thesis, expressing your balanced opinion that both the government and individuals have roles to play in ensuring public health. State that the essay will discuss both perspectives and provide a thesis that suggests a balanced view. Introduction: Introduce the topic of public health responsibilities. 2.3.4