

The boy wondered where Henning was going. The farm was located on Soder in Stockholm and was called Noak's ark. The husband drove Henning to a farm nearby, where farmers used to live while visiting the city. There Henning was allowed to sleep on a haystack