

and it tells that people used to go to the wise man, complaining to him of the same problems every time. One day, Aljkim told them a joke and everyone laughed about it. After two minutes, he told them the same joke again and a few smiled