Unification is a game design process where a logical and cohesive game theme is identified.Each aspect of the game is then designed around this theme, including gameplay mechanics, visuals, music, and even the surrounding environment if possible.