

Eating a balanced, nutrient-rich diet can help reduce the risk of chronic diseases like heart disease, diabetes, Processed foods, added sugars, and unhealthy fats can contribute to fatigue, mood issues, and cognitive problems