

She had a sharp memory and a great deal of concentration which enabled her to finish her work easily