

The right kind of organizational structure will make it possible for employees to communicate effectively with their managers and each other. If your organization has departments then it will also be easier for departments to communicate with each other