

These attacks can take the form of passive attacks>>, which involve monitoring and stealing data without altering it, and active attacks>>, which involve modifying, deleting, or encrypting data