

Pollution comes from various sources including burning fossil fuels (like coal and oil), agricultural practices, mining activities, and even alarms. It can also disrupt sleep and contribute to global warming. Planting trees helps fight global warming.