

Subarachnoid Hemorrhage (SAH) Subarachnoid hemorrhage (SAH) involves bleeding into the subarachnoid space between the arachnoid and pia mater, where cerebrospinal fluid circulates. Common sites of aneurysm rupture include: o Anterior Communicating Artery: Can lead to visual pathway involvement, resulting in visual field deficits