

Differences in statistical methodologies and coverage scope: The unemployment rate indicator is based. 1 on field surveys conducted in accordance with international standards that measure individuals' actual
.labor market status