

At the lower level, a tactile new brick structure addresses the street, balancing its contradictory roles of security and entry. a more private, screened upper-level house bedrooms and projects forward to frame previously unseen views of the CBD and shade glazing below