

There is a dearth of research that examines the connection between liquidity management and profitability at the Palestinian level, so the goal of this study is to close the gap and investigate how liquidity management affects profitability in Palestinian commercial banks