

Digestate valorization Digestate is a homogeneous and stabilized product from anaerobic digestion of organic matter. After fermentation in digester and post-digester, digestate can be spread with smells drastically reduced compared to manure spreading. Compared to manure spreading, digestate spreading also improves microbial activity and soil respiration