Johnson (1984) and Littlewood (1984) discuss an alternative learning theory that they believe is compatible with CLT: a skill-learning model of learning. This includes both cognitive and behavioral components.