

Head nurse fills one of the most critical first line-managing roles in the administration of nursing services. Active participation in the professional nursing organization. This position is crucial in coordination and integrating the practice of nursing toward the attainment of primary goal of nursing services that rendering a high level of nursing care to each patient in each unit. Definition: She/he is the person responsible for direct and indirect nursing care of patient within an organized unit of a clinical area as medical, surgical units- ---etc